With the ever-evolving technologies that surround cloud, making a decision concerning direction, planning and execution can be difficult, to say the least.

Our knowledge and experience can help you find the right balance between business speed and agility while maintaining business process—ensuring that internal provisioning of services meet the demands of your organization's goals and infrastructure.

We have more than five years of experience with cloud technology, and Integra is the only company in the region to have architected and deployed multiple secure private clouds, using VMware technologies in the National Capital Region—some of which are multi-tenant and some are award-winning projects.
